

Commons House

Housemaster Report

As Term 3 draws to a close, Commons House celebrates a season rich in growth, grit, and camaraderie. From spirited inter-house competitions to the quiet determination of trial examinations, our learners have shown remarkable resilience and heart. The transition into summer sports brought fresh energy to the fields and courts, with students embracing the rhythm of cricket, athletics, and swimming—each moment a testament to teamwork and tenacity.

Camps this term offered more than adventure; they became spaces of reflection, identity, and connection. Whether around a fire or on a hike, learners deepened friendships and discovered new facets of themselves, embodying the spirit of Commons beyond the classroom.

Looking ahead, Term 4 arrives swiftly and demands focus. With limited time before final examinations, every lesson counts. Learners are encouraged to enter this final stretch with clarity, courage, and commitment. Teachers stand ready to guide, support, and challenge each student toward their best.

As we prepare for the culmination of the academic year, Commons House remains a place of excellence, empathy, and enduring spirit. Let us finish strong—together.

Finally, some images below of all the achievements of different boys in different environments within the school – magnificent achievement on so many fronts.
